Taping from our national professionals, the Ministry of Federal Affairs has embarked on engaging national consultants who possess rich academic and diverse professional experience on governance with indepth knowledge in federal system of government. The Minister of Federal Affairs is involved in discussing the content of the draft blue print on federalism which the consultants presented to the ministry for comments. This is a great opportunity in the country as we prepare for the National conference on Federalism to decide the structure of federal system of government as shall be enshrine in South Sudan upcoming permament constitution.

Expert Guidance for Sustainable Growth;

The Minister of Federal Affairs, Hon. Lasuba L. Wongo holding a discussion with a team of academic experts from Papan Consultancy Firm, the Ministry's strategy in soliciting ideas through research and consultations to assist in order to develop a federal model for the Republic of South Sudan

A meeting of the Working Group on Federalism which was convened to discuss content of the Blueprint on federalism and the upcoming National Conference on Federalism.

The valuable contributions from the Working Group were so impressive and shows how South Sudan would establish the best federal system that ease and foster quick development in all rural areas in the country.

It also highlighted the principle of transparency and accountability mechanism in the management of public resources that accompany core instruments and principles of federalism. Together we shall make a great difference for the betterment of our Republic.
